Attention, Tulsa! Our partners over at Amplify Tulsa need you to help them help Tulsa!

They are conducting a community needs assessment this summer to help identify how Tulsa can better support teen sexual health & well-being, as well as what parents, schools, healthcare providers, youth-serving organizations, & other community members need to support the young people in their lives.

There are two different surveys, one for teens 15-17 (to complete with permission from their parents) & one for adults. And, both are translated into Spanish. So, we hope you'll consider filling out this completely anonymous survey and/or sharing it with your community before August 15. Please & TY!

Here is a direct link to the surveys: https://okstateches.az1.qualtrics.com/\_/SV\_e2QBAPTNODkN1Cm

Now we are going to ask you a few questions about sexual health.

For the purposes of this survey, sexual health is defined as a state of physical, emotional, mental, and social well-being related to sexuality; it is not merely the absence of disease, dysfunction, or infirmity. Sexual health requires a positive and respectful approach to sexuality and sexual relationships, as well as the possibility of having safe sexual experiences, free of coercion, discrimination, and violence. For sexual health to be attained and maintained, the sexual rights of all persons must be respected, protected, and fulfilled. (World Health Organization, 2002)

Expanding education and opportunities for youth in Oklahoma

WHAT WE DO

We coordinate collective efforts within our community to expand access to sex education, promote healthy relationships, and engage the public in this conversation.

Advocate

Our entire community should be included in this conversation. We work to get facts, data, and resources into the community.

Collaborate

Amplify brings together organizations working in youth sexual health for a coordinated effort to more effectively achieve our shared goal of reducing the teen birth rate.

Educate

Youth want factual information when making decisions about their future. We work with partner organizations to expand access to sex education in Oklahoma.

Amplify is a Youth Health Collective

We support community efforts to promote youth health through capacity building, professional development, and data.

Amplify brings organizations working in youth sexual health together to reach our shared goals more effectively. We provide support for sex education implementation and expansion, educator training, professional development opportunities, and collect data on public perception and teen birth rates.

A Word from our Executive Director

“Data show youth in Tulsa increasingly choose to make healthy decisions about their future. We are excited to work with partner organizations to continue this path with the expansion of sex education, contraceptive access, and community wide knowledge on youth sexual health. There is no state mandate or funding for sex education. We rely on the generosity of our funders and individual donors to continue our work. We hope you will join us on our mission to expand opportunity to youth in Oklahoma.”

HEATHER DUVALL
Executive Director
